

graffiti

SEPTEMBER 2005

Comments about Graffiti?

Please contact Kelley Bachli at kelley.bachli@libraries.claremont.edu

RENEW ONLINE

It's easy to avoid library fines.
Click on My Library Account in Blais from the Libraries website at libraries.claremont.edu

CONSTITUTIONAL DISCOURSE LECTURE SERIES

Federalism, Constitutional Structure, and the Securing of Liberty with Ralph Rossum, CMC, Salvatori Professor of Political Philosophy & American Constitution and Director of the Rose Institute
Wednesday, September 21, 4:15 pm, H/M Library, Founders Room

FROM THE ARCHIVES

A College for Women?

In September of 1964, Pitzer College opened its doors as a women's college. It wasn't until 1970 that Pitzer became a coed institution.

Education for the Twenty-First Century,
Pitzer College, 1963

LIBRARY 101

Welcome new and returning students! Listed below are a few "Library 101" basics that you will need to know to make the best use of your time at the Libraries.

Blais

Our online catalog, Blais, it is a searchable web based tool that acts much like typical search engines, but it is specific to materials owned by the Claremont Colleges. Look for Blais on our website.

Databases

Ever heard the terms 'scholarly research' or 'peer reviewed'? These terms refer to materials used in research that have been reviewed by professionals for accuracy. Peer reviewed journals are indexed, usually by subject, and those indexes are accessible through searchable, online databases. These databases are grouped by subject and can be found under the 'databases' link from the Libraries' website.

Reference Assistance

Each of our libraries are staffed by librarians and other information professionals ready to help you find answers to your questions. Don't hesitate to drop by and visit! You can also contact librarians from the list of subject specialists on the Libraries' web site and find someone knowledgeable in your area of study. Or try chatting with a librarian using any of the following profile IDs: librarianschat on Yahoo! and AIM, or librarianschat@hotmail.com on MSN. Again, Welcome!

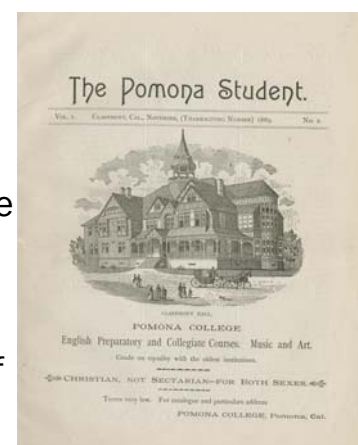

—Jezmyne Amergin, Sprague Librarian

EXHIBITS AT THE LIBRARIES

Speak Out! Claremont Student-Run Newspapers

August 29-October 14, Honnold/Mudd Library

Student-run newspapers have long played a key role in the lives of college students, whether it is to cheer on sports teams and other special events, or editorialize on local or national controversies. On view are the 1st issues of all of the various Claremont student newspapers.

WORKSHOPS

Using the Web for Research

Monday, Sept. 19, 6:30-7:30pm

Finding the Articles You Need

Monday, Sept. 26, 6:30-7:30pm

Research in Black studies

September 29, 4:30-5:30pm

Research in Cultural studies

September 20, 5:30-6:30pm

All workshops are held in the Keck Learning Room at Honnold/Mudd. For more information, ask at the H/M information desk.

Happy Days

Scripps in the 50s

August 25-October 2, Denison Library

Life magazine photographer Ed Clark and free lance photo journalist Abbot Mills capture the spirit of student life at Scripps in the 1950s.

The two photographers works, along with others, are highlighted.